

CONTENTS

	ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	3
	FOREWORD	7
I	INTRODUCTION	13
	What is a network?	15
	Why do we need international networking?	16
	Networking in science and education	20
	Networking: its personal benefits and dimensions	25
II	BUILDING AND MAINTAINING NETWORKS	27
	The networking effort	29
	Organising and scheduling your networking activities	30
	First analyse your environment	33
	Start networking	36
	Ways to make contact	37
	Communication	41
	Develop your network	45
III	UTILISING YOUR NETWORK: SETTING THE SCENE	49
	An operational network	51
	Ideas and liaison	52
	Information	54
	Influence (lobby)	57

IV	FORMING A CONSORTIUM AND DEVELOPING A PROJECT PROPOSAL	61
	Towards a consortium	63
	From network to consortium	63
	Before you start	65
	Choice of partners	67
	The core group	69
	Developing the proposal	72
	Organisational back-up	76
V	MANAGING A CONSORTIUM	77
	Consortium structure and organisation	79
	Decision making	81
	Definition of deliverables	83
	Monitoring and review of progress and budgets	84
	Dissemination	85
	Consortium agreement	89
	Internal communication	90
	Trust and personal ('double') agenda's	92
	Relations between people in your network/consortium	93
	Composition of groups	94
	Private life	95
	Dealing with conflicts	95
VI	BARRIERS AND CRITICAL SUCCESS FACTORS	97
	ABOUT THE AUTHOR	106
	ABOUT THE EDITOR	108
	ABOUT THE ILLUSTRATOR	108